Tiny But Tough... A New Range

Designed To Last

SEAC's new range of powder coated fasteners provides a colourful solution that's designed to last, for architectural and outdoor applications. With a tough, robust finish, our fixings are maintenance free and offer superior corrosion resistance. Complete UV stability gives excellent colour retention, for an all-round quality product.

Highest Standards

As specialists in the coating of small components, SEAC's expert staff can also provide a powder coating service to the highest standards for your own finished project. Our flexible range includes standard RAL colours, with many different finishes and a colour matching service all available.

We can coat nails, screws, rivets – in fact any fasteners, and we're even happy to coat in small batches to suit particular requirements.

Looking Good For Longer

For added aesthetic appeal and versatility, SEAC's countersunk screws now create a completely flush and coloured finish. And, since all our products keep their form exactly, they will continue to look good for many years to come.

Of Colourfast Coated Fasteners!

So if you're looking for a decorative and hard-wearing option that lets your imagination take flight, please contact SEAC today.
